FICTIONS AND FRAUDS.

Speculation on Wall street is in the advance in the march of commercial progress. Millions of shares of capital stock in the late made trusts are bought and sold among the knowing members of the Stock Board. The seller, it is believed, will have the advantage in the market upon the theory that panic may come from over speculation, if from no other cause. The more sanguine will rely on McKinley's policy to keep the stock world afloat and business on the run without danger of a smashup from a broken rail or a detached boulder which has rolled upon the track.

President McKinley sends good crops to the farmers and makes corn grow in abundance on the western prairies and in other parts of the country, but it may be he will overlook some of his prosperous departments and trouble may come if the man has more than he can attend to in a legitimate way. He should not be overloaded by his friends placing more upon him than he can carry to a successful conclusion in business.

The opinion is entertained by many that panics come only when Democrats are in power, which it is sincerely hoped is true for the present and future good of the country. Business will continue to be prosperous till supply and demand part company, which condition of affairs has always been disastrous to the schemes of better men than President McKinley. Supply from some unknown cause for the last hundred years has equaled demand in enlightened countries for the necessities of life, but panics have come when bins and barns were full, which have made people poor who were rich.

President McKinley will probably arrange business in a way that will prevent any more of these unfortunate times which have been so disastrous to many people who believed themselves independent of hard times.

The stock markets have the appearance of unusual activity, but future prices will depend on the money market quite as much as in the creation in the future of additional trust stocks. There should not be a question in the minds of well informed people respecting the craze there is in the United States for combination in all departments of business, which has its origin in stocks, in additional stocks representing values that are not in the properties combined. These stocks bear a lie upon their face and have untruth as their foundation, which will not sustain an upright position when adversity makes an appearance in general business affairs.

It is not intended to have it inferred that President McKinley is a father of lies or is a father of liars, or that it is believed that he is either, but there are more untruths given to the world in financial matters in the form of stocks representing fictitious values, which his administration is trying to care for, than there has been in all the administrations that have preceded him in the Presidential office.

These actions in values, like other fictions, exist largely in the imagination and for a time their authors and their supporters will be on the crests of popular waves in seeming splendor, where McKinley and his administration appear to be. When the sun of prosperity is shaded and its rays cease to give color to popular wave crests, the intervening cloud may become universal and burst upon that part of the financial world there is in the United States with the force of a cyclone.

It should be made a subject of special prayer by all good Republicans that President McKinley make it his special duty to prevent any clouds from passing over the sun of prosperity, as the rays that play upon popular wave crests are as necessary to life in financial fictions as the heat that comes from the President himself to warm the fictions into life.

Fictions are not always frauds, but which may be made frauds of the worst sort. Among the latter class of fictions are financial fictions, which are receiving from the administration such care that it has taken them under its special protection. It is not intended to convey an impression that the administration is a fraud or any part of a fraud as the people are honest and would not knowingly support a fraud. The people may be deceived, but it would not be proper to print in a newspaper anything from which it might be supposed that they were charged with supporting a fraud. It is to be hoped that it may be true that the impressions, which it is sought to send abroad about over-speculation, is the result of calamity howlers, who have no faith in the ability of President McKinley, or who are ignorant of the utility there is connected with stock to acquire money. Large stockholders representing the prop-represented in stock transactions, is a part of the ledgermain there is in finance, which is understood by very few, as it is known to the administration and its friends.

Ignorance in general about stock transactions, may be given as a chief reason for the noise calamity howlers are making over transactions in stock including millions of shares. President McKinley is not saying anything about these transactions as it is a part of the program of his friends.

MAGNITUDE OF THE SHEEP INDUSTRY.

An Interview With Senator Flanigan on One of the Leading Industries of Western Nevada.

The magnitude of the stock industry in Western Nevada is not realized, even by those who live in this favored section. An interview with Senator Flanigan, who is one of the foremost sheep growers in the State, may tend to throw a little light on this subject.

Senator Flanigan owns a large ranch and range near Pyramid Lake and, in partnership with James Dunn, owns the Smoke Creek place.

"We have had a good season," he said, "managing to save 110 per cent in lambing. The wool crop will be large. The growth is much thicker than usual, although it carries thirty per cent less grease. This is the result of the excess of moisture and good wintering facilities."

"We will clip 400,000 pounds of wool. Quite a respectable trainload, isn't it? By the way, I have purchased 25 shearing machines. They are the Allen shears and are the first to be introduced in the State. No more cutting and maiming a sheep. The machine takes off the wool much cleaner and it is impossible for the shearer to inflict injury."

"The plant costs about $5000. A gasoline engine furnishes the power. Between 35 and 40 men are required to run the rig. An expert shearer will remove nearly 300 fleeces in a day. Part of the outfit will be set up at Smoke Creek and the balance at Pyramid.

"Our lambs are doing nicely. Don't you know that Nevada lambs are superior to those from any other section of the United States? A few years ago there was no market in Chicago for Nevada lambs. I shipped the first consignment there and was compelled to sell them at a sacrifice. The next year lambs from Western Nevada commanded the highest price in the Chicago market and now butchers from the Windy City send their representatives here every season to buy."

"Three years ago I imported $8000 worth of Lincoln rams. The experiment was remarkably successful. Next season I sold lambs from these rams for $3.40, while the prevailing price was only $2.50. This breed is best for mutton. With me, wool is a secondary consideration."

"This spring we have 27,000 lambs at Smoke Creek and 17,000 at Pyramid. There are at present one hundred men on the pay roll. They receive from $20 to $70 a month and board."

RAILROAD EXTENSION

The Nevada-California-Oregon May Make Lakeview Its Terminus.

The extension of the Nevada-California-Oregon road from Terreiro north will be greatly appreciated by all the people in Modoc county on account of the inconvenience they have suffered in the past in getting to and from the station at Terreiro which is very unfavorably located for both freight and passenger business.

There is a prosperous little settlement north of Terreiro with a very "Likely" name, which would make a much more desirable terminus, even temporarily, than the present "Terreiro," and it is hoped that the good management of the N.-C.-O. Railway, will make it the next stopping place.

The good people of Likely would prefer, no doubt, to become the northern terminus of the N.-C.-O. Railway, but they will likely be doomed to disappointment, as the people in Lakeview, Oregon, are holding out alluring inducements for the extension of the railway to that point, and the sooner their desire is gratified, the better it will be for the city of Reno, the N.-C.-O. Railway, and the inhabitants of Southern Oregon, as it will bring the latter within easy business relations with Reno, the principal city in Nevada, besides affording the people of Eastern California, and Southern California direct rail connection with San Francisco and other important Pacific Coast terminals.

May the good work go on, and the N.-C.-O. R. prosper.

BABCOCK MEMORIAL

Plans Have Been Prepared for the New City Kindergarten Building.

Prof. Hartman K. Clapp has received the plans for the new kindergarten building, which will be erected at the corner of West and Walnut streets. The plans were drawn by Bliss & Faiville of San Francisco. The same architects will prepare the specifications. This will be done free of cost. Mr. Bliss was once a pupil of Miss Clapp and Miss Babcock and takes this means to express his gratitude for their kindly efforts in his behalf.

The blue prints will be placed on exhibition today in the window of Hodgkinson's drug store. The plans indicate that the building will be a handsome one. It will cost about $8000. It will be built of brick and will be two stories high. The ground dimensions are to be about 50 by 70 feet. The lower rooms will be used for kindergarten purposes and the upper floor will contain a museum. The amount required to erect the building has nearly all been subscribed. Miss Clapp headed the list with $1000.

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS.

The Reno Water, Land and Light Company has a force of men employed on Virginia street laying new water mains. Ten inch pipe is being put down from Tenth to Seventh street and a six inch main from Seventh to Fifth street. In all, 2300 feet of pipe are being put down.

A SERIOUS OFFENSE.

Wednesday night two negroes were arrested by Officers Leeper and Brundage. They are accused of attempting to commit an assault upon a colored girl. A white man is also implicated in the case, but has not yet been apprehended. An examination will be had this morning.

DIAMOND SETTING.

As this is a very important branch of the jewelry business, we spared no means in getting the best diamond setting on the coast. If you have any stone to be reset it will pay you to take it to the Golden Jewelry Company.
